

Commercial Roofing Precautions: Keeping Job Sites Safe

BENTONROOFING

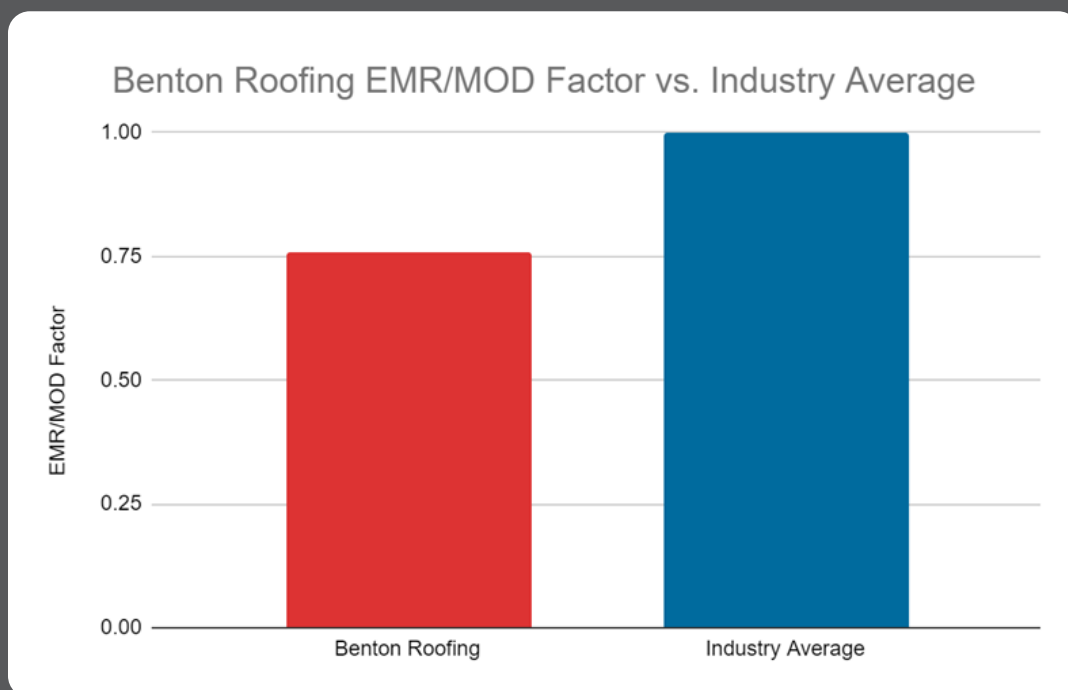

Taking Safety Seriously

We believe an effective safety policy begins with a firm program. With the help of OSHA and our local OSHA field offices, Benton Roofing has developed the most complete and comprehensive safety policy in the industry. Our program outlines all aspects of safety relevant to our operations.

Each job site presents unique safety challenges, so we implement specific regulations for each project. Weekly and periodic meetings and job site inspections ensure that each of our safety related goals are met and exceeded. This often involves field procedures that go above and beyond the guidelines provided by OSHA.

Safety Ratings Explained

The average modifier is 1.0 compared to Benton Roofing's average modifier of 0.75. This means we offer 25% lower-than-average Experience Modification Rates (EMR) as demonstrated in Bureau of Labor Statistics incidence reports. EMR ratings that fall below 1.0 illustrate the highest-rated safety standards in the industry.

Please note: EMR ratings could change or differ from the time this was published

Putting Action to Practice

At Benton Roofing, we are dedicated to doing our part to keep the team safe and help them do their jobs even better. Below is a list of useful commercial roofing safety guidelines that anyone can put to good use.
